TENNESSEE TECH UNIVERSITY MULTINATIONAL AND LEGACY SCHOLARSHIPS

As a comprehensive university, Tennessee Tech University (TTU) offers more than 40 bachelor's and 23 graduate degree programs within six academic divisions: Agricultural and Human Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business, Education, Engineering, and Interdisciplinary Studies and Extended Education.

Tennessee Tech University offers a scholarship of $3800 per semester for students with a 3.3 GPA in high school or for transfer students from abroad or within the United States. The Multinational Scholarship offers students from nationalities in which TTU does not have a large number of students the opportunity to attend TTU. In addition, the Legacy scholarship is for TTU's international alumni whose children, grandchildren, spouses, or siblings wish to attend TTU.

MARYVILLE COLLEGE INTERNATIONAL DIVERSITY FULL-TUITION SCHOLARSHIPS

Maryville College is ideally situated in Maryville, Tennessee, between the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and Knoxville, the state's third largest city. Known for its academic rigor and its focus on the liberal arts, Maryville is where students come to stretch their minds, stretch themselves and learn how to make a difference in the world.

The Maryville College International Diversity Scholarship will cover the full cost of tuition for each academic year and is renewable up to four years provided that the student meets the appropriate requirements, maintains F-1 student status, completes 2 hours of service per week with the Center for International Education Cultural Ambassadors Program, and maintains a minimum 3.0 GPA.

FAIRLEIGH DICKINSON UNIVERSITY MERIT-BASED SCHOLARSHIPS

The largest private university in New Jersey, Fairleigh Dickinson University (FDU) is a not-for-profit, nonsectarian, multicampus institution. Founded in 1942, FDU achieved four-year status in 1948 and approval as a university in 1956.

Scholarship consideration is given to non-U.S. citizens worldwide and to U.S. citizens who reside outside the United States. Scholarship awards vary in amount, however many are significant enough to help academically talented students with the cost of attendance.

BARD COLLEGE DISTINGUISHED SCIENTIST SCHOLARS PROGRAM

Building on a 150-year history as a competitive and innovative undergraduate institution, Bard College's mission has expanded across the country, around the world, and to meet broader student needs. Now, more than 1,900 undergraduates and 300 graduate students study in Bard programs, plus more than 1,000 students in our high schools and early colleges.

Each year, four-year scholarships covering up to full tuition are available for academically outstanding high school seniors who are committed to majoring in biology, chemistry, physics, or mathematics as an undergraduate. Additional financial aid to cover remaining costs, such as room and board, may be applied for and will be awarded on the basis of need. Additional assistance will take the form of a loan or campus employment. Scholarship recipients are also eligible for a $1,500 stipend for summer research projects following their sophomore and junior years.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY TEACHERS COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS

Teachers College, Columbia University, is committed to a vision of education writ large, encompassing our four core areas of expertise: health, education, leadership and psychology.

Each year Teachers College awards over $7 million of its own funds and $2 million of endowed funds to new and continuing students. There are over 300 endowed funds provided by the generosity of donors. The majority are specific to a particular program. Scholarships provide tuition funding for eligible part- and full-time students in some of TC's degree programs. Program faculty make the awards. Depending on the fund, new and/or continuing students are eligible. International students are eligible for all sources of scholarship aid, except where restrictions exist.
