The U.S. and Algeria Consult on Security and Counterterrorism

State Department Acting Counterterrorism Coordinator Justin Siberell led an interagency delegation to Algeria on June 11 for bilateral discussions with the Algerian government on a range of security and counterterrorism issues. As an active and respected voice in the region and globally, Algeria is an important counterterrorism partner and the U.S. delegation welcomed the opportunity to discuss our joint coordination on enhancing capabilities of governments throughout the region to confront terrorist threats, and our cooperation in multilateral forums and in cyberspace. We look forward to further strengthening our bilateral cooperation with Algeria as it engages with its partners in the region to promote stability, prosperity, and security.
