

On the occasion of the 70th anniversary of D-Day:

THEY FIGHT WITH CAMERAS

Walter Rosenblum in WWII – From D-Day to Dachau

Friday, June 6, 2014

The exhibition They Fight With Cameras is devoted to the great American photographer Walter Rosenblum and includes still photographs and memorabilia, as well as a short film documenting his experiences as a WWII U.S. Army Signal Corps cameraman from Decision-Day to the liberation of Dachau and Victory in Europe Day.

Walter Rosenblum was one of the most decorated photographers of WWII, receiving, among other honors, the Silver Star, Bronze Star, and Purple Heart. The Simon Wiesenthal Center has honored him as a liberator of Dachau.

Introduction & Remarks: Nina Rosenblum, Academy Award nominated film maker and producer, and Manuela Fugenzi, curator

Please register by email: programs@usembassy.at

Refreshments will be offered.

Yale University

Supported by:

DAEDALUS PRODUCTIONS, INC

10B
photography

U.S. Embassy Vienna

By participating in this event you consent to the publication of images/videos taken during the event.