

“Journalism in Crisis Zones – The Media and the Military”

Introductory keynote

Barbara Barnett, Ph.D., Associated Professor and Dean in the William White School of Journalism and Mass Communications at the University of Kansas.

Co-Director of the University of Kansas ‘Media and Military’ project.

Panel discussion

Thomas Seifert, Deputy Chief Editor, Wiener Zeitung

Martin Staudinger, Senior Editor, profil

Moderated by:

Michael Shields, Chief Correspondent, Thomson Reuters

Refreshments

Thursday, October 10, 2013; 3 p.m.

Palais Festetics, Berggasse 16, 1090 Vienna

Admission is free. Please register by e-mail: programs@usembassy.at or by fax: 313-39-2057

Barbara Barnett’s keynote will share lessons learned from Kansas University's ‘Media and the Military’ project and consider how journalists can tell more authentic stories about the military, how communication through media can be a powerful tool in media leadership, and how media cope after covering combat. The panel discussion brings together international senior journalists who are veterans in reporting from crisis zones around the globe.

Like us on  Follow us on  Watch us on

By participating in this event you consent to the publication of images/videos taken during the event.