

Announcement:

The Kennedy-Lugar Youth Exchange and Study (K-L YES) Program FY 2014-15

The American Center at U.S. Embassy Dhaka is pleased to announce the Kennedy-Lugar Youth Exchange and Study (K-L YES) Program for academic year 2014-15.

The K-L YES program is a high school exchange program sponsored by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. The program is administered in Bangladesh by the International Education and Resource Network - Bangladesh (iEARN-BD), a non-profit organization, with the support of U.S. Embassy Dhaka.

The program enables exemplary Bangladeshi high school students from grades eight through eleven to spend one academic year at an American high school. Its purpose is to provide promising high school students with a deeper understanding of the United States, while simultaneously enhancing their leadership skills. In addition to their coursework, participants are also expected to become active members of their local communities by participating in extracurricular activities and volunteer projects. Participants will be placed with an American host family for the duration of the program, and will also help Americans to learn about Bangladesh's culture.

The K-L YES Program began in Bangladesh in 2004, and since then, 215 Bangladeshi students have successfully participated. Many YES participants have been recognized for their community service activities in the United States, and the YES alumni association in Bangladesh is actively engaged in several community programs.

To be eligible to apply for the K-L YES program, interested candidates must:

- be Bangladesh citizens and not dual citizens or permanent residents of the U.S., or any other country;
- be between 15 and 17 years of age on August 01, 2014;
- be currently enrolled secondary school students in good standing in grades 8 –11;
- be proficient in written and spoken English at a level sufficient to engage in high school-level courses;
- have B grade averages without any failing marks;
- be able to accurately present Bangladeshi culture in American schools and communities;
- be committed to returning to Bangladesh upon completion of the program;
- have demonstrated leadership skills;
- have had little or no prior study or travel experience in the United States or elsewhere outside of their home country;
- be willing and able to fully participate in an intensive academic program, community service, and educational travel;
- be able to adapt to American high school life, prepared to live with a host family, and able to adjust to cultural and social Practices different than those in Bangladesh;
- be mature, responsible, independent, confident, open-minded, tolerant, thoughtful and inquisitive;
- be willing and able to fully participate in an intensive academic program, community service, and educational travel program; and,

- be comfortable with campus life, prepared to share living accommodations, and able to make adjustments to cultural and social practices different from those of their home country.

Selected applicants must meet all U.S. visa eligibility requirements, and selected applicants' health records will also be reviewed.

The program application is available at the iEARN-BD website: <http://www.earnbd.org/>.

The deadline for submission of completed applications to iEARN-BD is Thursday, November 28, 2013. Late applications will not be accepted.
