

DEMONSTRATION NOTICE

U.S. Embassy
La Paz, Bolivia

June 9, 2011
4:03 PM

The U.S. Embassy in La Paz has received information about the blockades affecting Bolivian-Peruvian border area:

The blockades affecting conditions in Desaguadero and Puno at the end of May have resumed. The road from Desaguadero to Puno is currently blocked and there are eight points blocked from La Paz to Desaguadero and four to Copacabana. Peruvian police (PNP) have stationed 500 officers at the international bridge between Bolivia and Peru and additional PNP at the airport in Juliaca in an attempt to keep the roads open.

Due to the potential for demonstrations and blockades between La Paz and the border of Peru, U.S. citizens are advised to monitor local news for road conditions to Peru and Copacabana. U.S. citizens traveling to Lake Titicaca and Copacabana should check the road conditions before they depart La Paz.

The U.S. Embassy reminds you that demonstrations and road blockades are not unusual in Bolivia, and even though they might be intended to be peaceful they can turn confrontational between security forces, demonstrators, and bystanders, and escalate into violence. You should avoid them if at all possible. If you find yourself in the vicinity of a large gathering, you should leave the area immediately for your own safety. Be alert and aware of your surroundings and pay attention to what the local news media has to say. Please note that the police have limited capabilities outside major cities and communication is poor.

You can stay in touch and get Embassy updates by checking the Embassy website, found here. You can also get global updates at the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Consular Affairs website where you can find the current Worldwide Caution, Travel Warnings, Travel Alerts, and Country Specific Information.
