Signature of the Additional Protocol

Yangon – The United States welcomes Myanmar’s signature of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) Additional Protocol (AP) on September 17 and looks forward to its entry into force and full implementation. The Additional Protocol, which is already in force in 121 countries around the world, gives the IAEA access to sites and to information in order to verify that all nuclear material in country is declared and limited to peaceful use. This important step will help the Government continue to move the country increasingly in line with international non-proliferation norms and standards.
