The U.S. Embassy in Beijing is seeking three individuals for the position of Temporary Visa Clerk with the Consular Section.

BASIC FUNCTION OF POSITION

Beijing is one of the world's largest non-immigrant visa (NIV) issuing posts. We expect that NIV demand over the next few years will break all previous records. The workload is compounded by applicant fraud, which requires all those who process NIV cases to pay extra attention to fraud detection when processing cases to completion.

Within the NIV unit, most interviews are conducted in Chinese and documents presented by applicants are in Chinese, requiring LES to provide interpretation and translation on a frequent basis. NIV LES are required to familiarize themselves with common supporting documents and scrutinize application materials closely to flag anomalies for officers. Also, many Chinese applicants are subject to an additional security review, which requires LES to read and summarize sophisticated employment information in the English language. Complex and sensitive cases are common.

At this level, the primary role of the Visa Clerk is to screen incoming documentation and information from a variety of sources; to data-enter; to track, organize, and file visa applications according to a relatively complicated set of laws and procedures and within a specialized computer system. The Visa Clerk drafts security advisory opinion (SAO) clearance requests and preints visas while maintaining accountability and responsibility for controlled visa foils. Procedures are generally standard and policies are clearly defined. The Visa Clerk receives work assignments and tasks according to standard operating procedures and then performs tasks as part of an established process.
