Health Promotion: Vision and Hearing

Dr. Marietta Bell-Scriber
January 26, 2011 1-3 PM

Cyprus Fulbright Center, Next to Ledra Palace (Green Zone)

Nursing & Health Care Professionals and General Public Invited

In this presentation, the state of the science related to health promotion for vision and hearing across the lifespan will be discussed. Topics will include recommendations for: vision & hearing exams and screening for children & adults; personal protective eye wear for recreational and occupational activities; and ear protective devices, equipment, and practices for protection against noise-induced hearing loss.

Dr. Marietta Bell-Scriber PhD, FNP-BC, is a current Fulbright Scholar to Cyprus for 2010-11. She is a Board-certified Family Nurse Practitioner and Professor of Nursing at Ferris State University, Big Rapids, MI, USA. In the U.S., Dr. Bell-Scriber practices at a non-profit health center in an urban community to provide primary care services for the medically uninsured. The content for this presentation is part of a chapter, Sensory: Vision and Hearing, that Dr. Marietta Bell-Scriber wrote for a nursing textbook, Promoting Health From Preconception Through Maturity: A Unique Nursing Role, which is scheduled to be published this spring by F.A. Davis Co.
