The Department of State and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) have created new instructions for Panel Physicians regarding tuberculosis (TB) detection. These changes require that, depending on the applicant's age, some additional tests that were not previously required will have to be done. These tests can extend the time to get results by up to 48 hours. Please carefully read the following chart to see what tests are required for different age groups:

0 years - 2 years: These patients only need the general medical exam unless the doctor requires additional tests.

2 years - 14 years: In addition to the medical examination, all patients in this age group need a PPD test (tuberculin skin test). This test should be reviewed by the panel physician after 48-72 hours. The fee for this test is $28.00. If the test result is positive, the patient will be required to have a chest x-ray. If the PPD test result is negative, the x-ray is not required. The PPD test can be done any weekday except Thursday.

15 years and older: In addition to the general medical exam, all patients need a chest x-ray. The PPD skin test is not required for this age group. If the medical exam and x-rays are normal, the results can be delivered on the same day.

Depending on the results of all the previous tests, additional tests may be required. The doctor will provide more information on any additional exams and associated costs. If any of the previous tests show evidence of TB infection, the doctor will provide information on any necessary treatment. If this is the case, please do not come to the visa interview. The doctor will inform the Embassy about your results and a new appointment will be rescheduled whenever the treatment is completed.

Blood tests: All patients over 15 years old must provide a blood sample. After the examination is done, the physician will prepare a medical report. Please ask your physician's office when the report will be completed and make arrangements to pick it up before the visa interview appointment date. The report will be placed inside a sealed envelope and given to the applicant to present at the immigrant visa interview.

FEES

CHILDREN UNDER AGE 15:	Medical Examination	$80 (or equivalent in Quetzales)
PERSONS AGE 15 OR OLDER:	Medical Examination	$120 (or equivalent in Quetzales)

NOTES:

X-RAYS AND PREGNANCY: If you are pregnant, please inform the doctor, especially if you are within the first three months of the pregnancy. Pregnant applicants age 15 and over must have a chest x-ray.

ADDITIONAL EXAMINATIONS AND TESTS: In cases where it is necessary to perform additional laboratory tests or consultations with specialists (see below), you will be responsible for any additional charges, including vaccinations.

The physician will inform you of the results of the medical examination but only a Consular Officer can make the determination of whether the immigrant visa will be issued.

The medical examination is valid from 3 to 6 months, depending on the results.

VACCINATIONS

The laws of the United States require that immigrant visa applicants obtain certain vaccines (listed below) before an immigrant visa can be issued to them.

As of July 1, 1997, all applicants for immigrant visas should submit evidence of having received the necessary vaccinations.

Prices are listed in Dollars, but you can pay the equivalent in Quetzales.

In order to assist the physician, and to avoid delays in the immigrant visa process, all applicants must bring their vaccination records for review by the physician at the time of their examination. If possible, applicants should obtain a copy of their vaccination record from their personal physician. Note: If you are bringing a vaccination card to the medical appointment, each recorded vaccination MUST be accompanied by the stamp and signature of the physician who performed the vaccination. If you do not have a vaccination record, the panel physician will discuss with you what vaccinations you need. Some vaccinations can be omitted at the discretion of the panel physician. Only the panel physician can determine what vaccines you need, taking into account your age, medical history, and your current medical condition.
