Consular1: Welcome to the U.S. Embassy's 2014 Diversity Visa Program webchat. We will start at 2:00 promptly. Here is some introductory information: Every year, the congressionally mandated Diversity Immigrant Visa Program makes available up to 55,000 immigrant visas worldwide. Starting May 1, 2013 (starting at 12:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time) Diversity Visa 2014 entrants (those who entered the Program between October 2 and November 3, 2012) can check the status of their entrance online at www.dvlottery.state.gov. Diversity Visa 2014 (DV-2014) entrants should keep their confirmation number until September 30, 2014 even if not selected on May 1, 2013. Additional entries may be selected in October 2013. This website is the only way to determine if entrants have been selected for the DV-2014 Program. No notification is sent to selectees by email or regular mail.

The Diversity Visa Program has NOT been canceled or changed; however, Congress is debating changes in U.S. immigration law. If the President signs any changes in U.S. immigration law that affect the Diversity Visa Program, we will pass that information.

The U.S. Embassy encourages entrants who were selected for the DV-2014 Program to submit their required documents to the Kentucky Consular Center (KCC) immediately in order to ensure a timely appointment at the U.S. Embassy.

BEWARE OF FRAUDULENT EMAILS AND LETTERS: The Department of State Office of Visa Services advises the public of a notable increase in fraudulent emails and letters sent to DV Program entrants. It is important to review the procedures for the DV Program on www.dvlottery.state.gov for accurate information. This website is the only source of official information about the DV Program.

QUALIFYING FOR THE DV: Selection as a DV-2014 applicant does not guarantee a visa. At the time of the visa interview, a Consular Officer will determine the qualifications and eligibility for the DV under the laws of the United States. Fees for the Diversity Visa application are non-refundable, even if a visa application is denied. Not listing all family members and their details in the original electronic DV entry will disqualify an applicant. The DV applicant must have the equivalent of at least twelve years of formal education to qualify for a visa. If a DV applicant does not have the mandatory twelve years of formal education, the applicant must have equivalent work experience in a qualifying occupation identified by the U.S. Department of Labor, most of which require a bachelors degree or higher. Few people qualify for the DV based on their work experience. You can find out if your occupational experience might qualify for the DV Program by going to the U.S. Department of Labor's job database website at <http://online.onetcenter.org/>.

For additional information about the Diversity Visa Program, visit the U.S. Embassy's web site at <http://nepal.usembassy.gov/> or the Department of State's web site at <http://travel.state.gov/>.

rajan panay: is it correct to have no chance for student visa for dv applier?

Consular2: @Rajan Panay: If an applicant has applied for the DV and then applies for a non-immigrant visa (e.g. student, visitor), yes, it can be difficult to qualify because you have demonstrated a desire to immigrate to the U.S.

Raju: I am not seleted for the first selection can I wait for second selection ?

Nepali: How and what is the process of selection for DV? How many people were selected in first lot for example in May 1, 2013? What is the rationality to keep confirmation number till October 2013?

Consular 1 @Nepali: It is a completely random selection done by computerized lottery. We do not know how many were selected. The rationale for keeping the confirmation number is that, if not enough current selectees qualify, there MAY be visas remaining, in which case another selection would occur.

Laxmi: how can we find the selected name list of the people who are selected ?

Consular2: @laxmi. You cannot. We do not publish the list of selectees. Each individual must privately look to see if they were selected.

Consular5: @Navraj – The DV program has not been cancelled. Congress is reviewing immigration law. And whether or not more people are selected in October depends on current selectees and whether the total number of visas are claimed.

Consular5: @navraj: The Diversity Visa Program has NOT been canceled or changed; however, Congress is debating changes in U.S. immigration law. If the President signs any changes in U.S. immigration law that affect the Diversity Visa Program, we will share that information.

KARKI: hello sir is it possible to change the address after getting the visa...suppose i have got welcome letter from New York and now after getting Visa i am willing to go to another state..

Consular3: @ Karki, yes you can. just write the proper address in the plain sheet of a paper and hand over it in the Port of Entry in the US bikram tamang: yes you guys only give answer to those whom you like huh?

Consular1: @bikram tamang: please give us a chance to respond to your question. The more you type the longer it will take to answer you. Consular2: @Guest 5: The Diversity Visa lottery has not been cancelled. U.S. Immigration law is currently being considered by the U.S. congress.

Ujjwal: sir, my friends say EDV program will not open now, EDV 2015 will not open, is this correct?

Consular1: @Ujjwal and Guest5: The Diversity Visa Program has NOT been canceled or changed; however, Congress is debating changes in U.S. immigration law. If the President signs any changes in U.S. immigration law that affect the Diversity Visa Program, we will pass that information.

apil dev neupane: Namaste Everyone. May I ask why is it that Diversity Visa Scheme allows fairly less skilled manpower to go and live in the States while even professionals like Doctors are denied Visitor Visa for Conferences or Exams on the grounds that their ties to home country are not STRONG enough ian: If husband has got DV and is quilifying for it, but the wife hasn't completed highschool, will she be able to go with her husband???

Consular6: @ian: the wife does not required to show the academic qualification

Consular4: @Ian - Only the principal applicant needs to have a high school education. If the husband is the principal applicant, then the wife does not need to meet those requirements.

Guest 5: Is the result of EDV 2014 result ends today or do we need to keep rechecking? If we need then what will be the final date the result is completely over.

Consular4: @Bishal - We do not control selection - please go to travel.state.gov for more information about the selection process.

Raju: Can I use this year submit DV photo to next year DV !

Consular5: @raju: you need a recent photo from within six months

Prasad: As you said, Administrative Processing can take months and might not be completed by 2013 and thus visa cannot be issued. When I meet all the qualifications and all the information I provided is honest, is it fair that I lose the chance of being issued visa just because of short time frame? Further, won't 6-8 months be adequate for doing Administrative Processing?

Consular4: @Prasad - According to our law, the administrative processing must be done. We cannot make exceptions to the law.

Consular5: @prasad: unfortunately, US law requires certain amounts of administrative processing which may result in the time limit expiring

Uttam Pant: One more queries if my son is studying in US under 21 if I got the DV will he has to apply for the different visa or will that F1 visa will converted from US itself.

Consular2: @Uttam Pant: The principle applicant must enter the US first, then the child can adjust in the US in the same fiscal year.

Consular3: @ Guest 3, if it's easier for you to process from the place where you are you can do so by stating that while filling out the form.

hariman: with just 2.5 credits like only 2 subjects a level and a as level

Consular5: @hariman: as long as you complete the degree, you should be eligible.

shreya: i just wanted to know if i am being selected for Dv lottery or not ian: what are the condition for getting rejected if person had got DV lottery???

Consular2: @Sabin: immediately. Follow the instructions given on the selectee webpage (www.dvselectee.state.gov).

Rabin: I have birth certicate made on 2060 (9 years back). Will that work for the intreview??

Consular2: @Navraj: It is more difficult to receive any non-immigrant visa (student, tourist, business) when you have demonstrated a desire to immigrate to the U.S. through the DV.

sushil: There is a rumour that no Nepalese is selected for edv 2014. Is this correct?

Consular3: @sushil – Since several Nepali participants on this web chat have said they were selected, no, it is not correct.

Consular4: @Sushil - No that is not correct.

Diwash Basnet: many people travel to USA illegally, through different routes, instead of the American embassy don't think about the solution? I applied for DV so many times but not selected, i am also looking for some other ways to reach to USA. Can you please let me know the way how i can travel to USA if i do not meet the criteria of the embassy.

Consular4: @Diwash - You should only travel to the US legally and with a valid visa. Traveling illegally is very dangerous and you will likely be arrested when you reach the U.S. You also risk losing a lot of money when the people who promise to help you get there abandon you in another foreign country.

rose: I was not selected in this lottery..can there be any changes to be selected ..?

Consular5: @rose: you should hold on to your confirmation number through the September 2014, as there may be another chance to be selected.
