

EducationUSA Live Webinars November/December 2011

Are you interested in studying in the United States? If you are, now is the time to join one of our live webinars. Each webinar is one hour long and is lead by a professional in the United States. When you plan to study in the United States, you'll find a great diversity of majors, students, campus environments, entry requirements, tuition fees and living cost options, making the U.S. a top choice for students around the world. To find the right fit, your first step is to research your options and decide what's most important to you.

Join us live online to learn more about academic programs, types of schools, and possible required tests available. Participation is free! Don't miss this unique opportunity to receive valuable information and answers to all of your questions. All you need to do is go to the following link:

http://www.educationusa.info/edusa_connects/

Upcoming Live Sessions

DAY/DATE/TIME (Saudi Arabia Time)	SESSION TOPIC
Wednesday, November 2 – 4:30pm-5:30pm	The Common Application Scott Anderson, The Common Application
Tuesday, November 8– 6:00pm-7:00pm	Writing Your Personal Statement for Admissions Lisa Przekop, University of California, Santa Barbara
Tuesday, November 15 – 4:30pm-5:30pm	IB Student Admissions Sandra Wade Pauly, IB North America
Tuesday, November 22– 6:00pm-7:00pm	How Undergraduate Admission Decisions Are Made Karen Ohen, Howard University
Thursday, December 8– 6:00pm-7:00pm	Writing Your Personal Statement for Admission Kristen Crosby, Washington & Jefferson College
Monday, December 12 – 4:00pm-5:00pm	Conditional Admissions for English Language Students Madeleine Monaghan, Sacred Heart University
Tuesday, December 13– 4:00pm-5:00pm	MBA Admissions David Smith, The Ohio State University
Wednesday, December 14– 6:00pm-7:00pm	How Undergraduate Admission Decisions Are Made Sonja Steinbrech, University of California, San Diego
Thursday, December 15– 4:00pm-5:00pm	Strengthening Your Graduate Application Kristen Williams, The George Washington University