

Embassy of the United States of America
Madrid, Spain

The United States Government welcomes the formation of a new Government in Spain, and congratulates President Mariano Rajoy. The United States and Spain have a longstanding productive and multifaceted bilateral relationship -- we work together to secure peace and stability around the world, are strong economic partners with $25 billion in two way trade, have a close and mutually beneficial military-military relationship and cooperate intensively to fight international terrorism and organized crime. We look forward to advancing our bilateral agenda to the benefit of both countries.
