

The American Center invites you join a live webchat

DOING WELL BY DOING GOOD

Making a difference through Social Entrepreneurship

Measuring a business' profit margin isn't just about dollar signs. An entrepreneur can choose to sell a product or design a business model that benefits a community, a country, or the world. Participate in this live webchat on how businesses can give back!

The webchat will feature Claire Fallender, Director of the Global Venture and Fellowship Program at Ashoka, a nonprofit that identifies and supports leading social entrepreneurs. Fallender will share advice and answer questions on how social entrepreneurs can get their ideas off the ground and receive the support of mentors and investors.

This is a live-broadcast from Washington DC and you can log into the URL from any computer that has Internet access.

Due to the possible road closure during the CHOGM, the program will not be hosted by the American Center.

T
H
U
R
S
D
A
Y November 14
5:30 PM

Please join the discussion by clicking on the URL
<https://conx.state.gov/entrepreneurship>

Interested in entrepreneurship?
Look out for the next upcoming event,
GIST TechConnect: Sales and Networking
for your Venture on Monday, November 18th at 5:45 pm at the American Center.

