Security Message for U.S. Citizens:

Continuing Demonstrations in Ukraine; Government States Protestors Must Vacate Gov't Buildings by Tomorrow

Sunday, December 8, 2013

Following large demonstrations on December 8, protesters continue to occupy Independence Square and several blocks of downtown Kyiv. Demonstrations are ongoing outside the Rada (Parliament) and other government buildings. Protesters may also appear unexpectedly in new locations, including outside media outlets. Government authorities have issued a court order stating protesters must vacate government buildings no later than Monday, December 9.

We strongly urge U.S. citizens to avoid downtown Kyiv and the areas near government buildings where there are demonstrations or a large police presence. Protesters have blocked several roads in downtown Kyiv. Individuals should exercise caution when moving around the city. The situation is fluid and the location and nature of demonstrations may change without notice. Citizens whose residences or hotels are located in areas with gatherings of protestors and police should plan for the possibility they might have to remain inside should clashes occur. U.S. citizens should monitor media coverage and stay aware of the ongoing situation.

Even demonstrations intended to be peaceful can turn confrontational and escalate into violence. You should avoid areas of demonstrations, and exercise caution if in the vicinity of any large gatherings, protests, or demonstrations.

We strongly recommend that U.S. citizens traveling to or residing in Ukraine enroll in the Department of State's Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) at www.Travel.State.Gov. STEP enrollment gives you the latest security updates, and makes it easier for the U.S. embassy or nearest U.S. consulate to contact you in an emergency. If you don't have Internet access, enroll directly with the nearest U.S. embassy or consulate.

Regularly monitor the State Department's website, where you can find current Travel Warnings, Travel Alerts, and the Worldwide Caution. Read the Country Specific Information for Ukraine. For additional information, refer to "A Safe Trip Abroad" on the State Department's website.
