Announcement
2013 STUDY OF THE UNITED STATES INSTITUTE
ON U.S. NATIONAL SECURITY POLICYMAKING

The Public Affairs Section (PAS) of the U.S. Embassy in Hanoi is currently seeking suitable candidates to nominate for the 2013 Study of the United States Institutes (SUSI) program on U.S. National Security Policymaking. University-level faculty or national security professionals from institutions of higher education, or national security policymaking institutions, including national military academies, government ministries, and think-tanks who wish to apply for the programs are invited to complete the application form and send it to PAS by Monday, November 5, 2012.

Program Overview

Study of the United States Institute (SUSI) on U.S. National Security Policymaking is a rigorous post-graduate-level academic seminar with an integrated study tour that will provide a group of 18 scholars and professionals an opportunity to deepen their understanding of the foundations of U.S. national security policy and current threats facing the United States. The institute focuses on the formulation of U.S. foreign and national security policy and the role of the federal government, think-tanks, media, and public opinion in shaping that policy. The program will examine specific security issues such as twenty-first century defense requirements, counter terrorism strategies, energy security, economic stability, cyber-security, chemical and biological weapons, nuclear weapons and infectious diseases. The program will also focus on regional security concerns in Africa, Europe, South Asia, the Western Hemisphere, East Asia, and the Middle East. The program will be supplemented by a simulation exercise, a group project, and a study tour to another region of the United States.

Hosted by the Institute for Training and Development (ITD) in Amherst, Massachusetts, the program will take place over the course of six weeks beginning in early February 2013. All participant costs, including: program administration, international and domestic travel and ground transportation, housing and subsistence, book, cultural, mailing and incidental allowances will be sponsored by the U.S. Department of State.
