If your I-94 (white) or I-94W (green) Departure Record was not removed when you departed the United States, it is possible your departure was not recorded properly.

What documentation should I include if returning my Departure Record by mail?

To validate departure, CBP will consider a variety of information, including:

- Original boarding passes you used to depart another country, such as Canada, if you flew home from there;
- Photocopies of entry or departure stamps in your passport indicating entry to another country after you departed the United States (copy all passport pages that are not completely blank, and include the biographical page containing your photograph); and
- Photocopies of other evidence which shows you were in another country, such as:
  - Dated pay slips or vouchers from your employer
  - Dated bank records showing transactions outside of the U.S.
  - School records showing attendance
  - Dated credit card receipts, showing your name and purchases outside of the U.S. (please delete your credit card number from the receipt)
  - An explanation letter in English.
- Mail legible copies. CBP cannot return original materials after processing.
