What is the ASVAB* school test?

Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery

The ASVAB is a multiple-aptitude battery test that measures developed abilities and helps predict future academic and occupational success in the U.S. military. It is administered annually to more than one million military applicants, high school, and post-secondary students.

The Student ASVAB test is geared for 10th, 11th and 12th graders as well as students enrolled at junior or community colleges. The emphasis is on academic and occupation assessment as well as "career exploration". Thus, the students get their individual results back in their hands along with a 42-page "Exploring Careers Guide". Some students also use their scores to go into the various military services.

What is the ASVAB enlistment test?

The enlistment ASVAB test is geared towards students 19-35 years of age who want to enter into the military service, or students who do not attend a school where the student ASVAB test is offered. It is 100% military. Applicants register with a recruiter to take the test. They do not get back a summary of their results, nor do they receive a "Career Exploration Guide.
