PRESS STATEMENT

UPDATE ON U.S.-SINGAPORE LAW ENFORCEMENT ENGAGEMENT REGARDING
SHANE TODD

March 21, 2013

On March 18, 2013, law enforcement officials from the U.S. and Singapore met and held productive, forthright discussions on the Shane Todd case, following up on the Washington visit last week of Singapore Foreign Minister K. Shanmugam and his conversations on the case with Secretary of State John Kerry, Attorney General Eric Holder and Senator Max Baucus (D-Montana). The cooperation and information sharing flowing from the discussions among law enforcement officials are consistent with the assurances provided in Washington and in accordance with the legal frameworks of both countries.

This case is ongoing and led by Singapore law enforcement authorities. For that reason we will not comment on the details of our discussions or speculate on the outcome of the investigation.
