Hubert Humphrey Application

Application is currently not open. Link to old application is at <https://apply.embark.com/student/humphrey/fellowship/94/?QS=1>

Application has many “essays” – each one is an important part of the application

What makes a good application

- Over 100 applicants, vying for 5, 2, or 3 spots.
- Interview panel will take 5 minutes to read your application the first time – you must grab their attention in those first five minutes.
- Complete and ACCURATE application, free from grammatical and factual errors.
- Complete application includes signature page, certificates and recommendation letters.
- Hand in ALL documents TOGETHER on time.
- Follow instructions diligently

What makes the best applications

- Correct name with full contact details
- Excellent essays and answers that reveal who you are and WHY you should be picked over hundreds of other people.
- Details that keep the reader interested, but do not bore.
- Information that is comprehensive and makes the reader want to meet you in person.
- Reference letters – ask people who know you well, not those who will give you standard glowing “she’s capable and the best” letter. Pick people who are fluent in the language of the recommendation, and will take the time to really write about you.
- Narrative CV – this is NOT a list. This is a chance for you to really tell them about yourself. Do not make redundant statements.
- In your writing, you must demonstrate why you want to study the field you have chosen, how it will help your institution and Tanzania in general and how you will accomplish your goals.
- PhD applicants have to include an extra writing sample of about 5-10 pages.

Preparation Tips

- Start preparing early for the application, essays, and interview.
- Prepare your CV, personal statement, objective statement outlines early, edit them often.
- Talk to Fulbright alumni about the goals of the program, and life and study in the US
- Talk to people within your field about change, opportunity, Tanzania's needs, market value, etc.
- Research institutions in the US that will be a good "fit" for you personally and professionally.
- If doctoral candidate, start looking into other funding.
- Learn about standardized tests and start preparing for them
- Start preparing for life and study in the U.S.: Read more, write more, organize more, inject fun into your classroom learning and teaching, if appropriate
- Understand plagiarism and to avoid it
- Learn to work in a team and still be independent.
- Learn how to ask questions
- If you don't understand something, ask questions

Dates

We are pleased to announce that we are now accepting applications from qualified Tanzanians for the following programs:

- The Fulbright Science and Technology PhD Program (S&T) – for Tanzanian scientists who qualify for doctoral studies in the U.S. This program has been suspended for the 2013-2014.
- The Fulbright Junior Staff Development Program (JSD) – for Tanzanians wishing to pursue masters or doctoral studies in the U.S. Applicants must have at least a bachelor's degree and at least two years' experience in their field. Other criteria apply. Deadline May 11, 2013
- The Hubert H. Humphrey Program (HHH) – for professionals and administrators with a minimum of five years' experience in their field who wish to go to the U.S. for one year of non-degree academic study and professional development. Deadline March 1, 2013
- The Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant Program – for Tanzanian English Teachers with a Bachelor's degree who want to intern for nine months teaching Kiswahili in the U.S. Deadline June 1, 2013
- The Fulbright African Research Scholar Program (ARSP) – for researchers with a doctorate who wish to go for specific research in the U.S. Deadline July 31, 2013

Q&A

- If you qualify, do you have any questions?
- (If you don't, it means you have not understood a thing.... A good applicant always has more questions)
